Continuation of 5. does NOT place the application in condition for allowance because: The Applicant attempts to distinguish the Applicant's system from the prior art of Beattie et al. by relying on the claims' use of the term "merchant". However, the Examiner would like to point out to the Applicant that in the context of the claims the "merchant" is merely a "user", as the claims do not recite a "merchan interacting with an opposing "buyer", "user", "consumer", "customer", etc. Therefore, the Examiner's appliance of the prior art is valid.
